ABSTRACT

A method of securing the mails is described. Using a mail information retrieval system and a the use of data-rich, machine readable barcodes to make each mailing piece unique by including data that 'lives' with the mail piece or package allows mail to become 5   traceable. Since traceable mail is less likely to become tainted, resources may be focused on mail that is not traceable.